Thanksgiving Pet Safety Tips

🥩 Keep table scraps limited

Rich foods, fatty meats, gravy, and side dishes can upset your pet's stomach and may lead to pancreatitis.

🦴 Skip cooked bones

Turkey, chicken, and ham bones can splinter and cause choking, intestinal blockages, or serious injuries.

🧅 Watch for toxic ingredients

Many holiday foods contain onions, garlic, raisins, grapes, or artificial sweeteners that can be dangerous for pets.

🚪 Provide a quiet retreat

Holiday guests, children, and extra activity can overwhelm some pets. Offer a calm space where they can relax.

🍽️ Secure the trash

Turkey carcasses, food scraps, skewers, and packaging can quickly become tempting and hazardous snacks.

🏷️ Prevent door dashes

With visitors coming and going, make sure pets have ID tags and microchip information that is up to date, and secure doors.

🍫 Store desserts safely

Chocolate, baked goods, and sugar-free treats should be kept out of reach to avoid accidental poisoning.
